Jaycees Planning Road-e-o

Committees, Date Set For Teen-Age Driving Contest

The Cameron Jaycees Monday night laid the groundwork for a Cameron Teen-Age Road-e-o at Yoe High School and set a tentative contest date for May 18.

Project Chairman Richard Williams appointed committee chairmen to start work on the teen-age safe driving contest which will be limited to 50 contestants.

Williams said the top boy and girl winner will win keys and the first three winners will receive certificates for top records in written and road tests.

Winner Goes To Regional

The Cameron winner, said Williams, will go to Temple for regional competition. The regional champion will go on to the state contest with the Texas winner going to the National Jaycee meet for a chance at a first-prize $2,000 scholarship.

Committee chairmen are: judges and officials, Jimmy Wiggins and Dana Kastenbaum; publicity, Fred Switzer and Frank Laeche; prizes and awards, Don Humble; eligibility and screening, George Bowman; course and equipment, Bill Crockett and Henry Schattler.

The driving course will probably be laid out in front of Yoe High School, Williams said. But another site will be used if East 11th Street is unavailable.

50 May Enter

Jaycees agreed that competition should be limited to 50 entries the first year. Teen-agers holding drivers licenses are eligible. Competition is open to both girls and boys.

All Cameron auto dealers will be contacted by Jaycees to furnish cars for the contest. Williams emphasized that all driving competition will be carefully supervised.

Entrants must have a clean driving record, Williams said. Entrance fee to defray expense of Road-e-o costs is 25 cents per driver.

Time and place for written and road testing will be announced later.

Gus Elley Talks To Lions Club

Cameron Lions heard Gus Elley Tuesday explain the history of artificial poultry hatching in a regular weekly meeting.

Lions also discussed meeting with Cameron Rotarians and Kiwanians May 29 in a dinner for area officials of the state highway department.

Elley traced the derivation of poultry hatching from the time of the ancient Egyptian cultures.

He pointed out that Horning Bros. Hatchery, with which he is associated, started in 1928. The operation began in several cities in Central Texas and was consolidated later in Cameron.

About 20 Cameron Lions and guests attended.

CAA Station Gets Underway Near City

Civil Aeronautics personnel this week are constructing three 51-foot towers and a transmitting building for an air-ground radio station southeast of Cameron.

Engineer J. N. Trotter, CAA representative, Atlanta, Ga., told The Herald the station is one of a remote-controlled facilities now being built throughout the United States.

It will be a part of network of faster, more efficient stations to provide traffic control for jet-age aircraft, he said.

VHF, UHF Bands Used

The building will house a number of transmitters and receivers operating on various frequencies in VHF and UHF ranges used by military, commercial and private aircraft.

The trio of towers and the 18 by 36-foot building are being erected on property leased from Mrs. Lela McLerran, four miles south-east of Cameron on SH 36.

Construction will be completed in about six weeks, Trotter said, though recent rains have slowed progress.

Technicians will follow construction workers later to install the radio equipment, he said.

Since the facility operates automatically and by remote control, Engineer Trotter said, no full-time attendant is needed.

Highly skilled technicians will visit the site periodically to perform necessary maintenance.

Has Power Plant Too

An auxiliary power plant will also be installed in the building to supplement commercial power.

The unit will automatically start and return the station to normal power in a few seconds if commercial power service fails.

The three towers will support the antennas required.

The Cameron structure is one of the first of a long-range program set up by CAA to meet radio communication and location demands of jet aircraft. It will tie in with similar stations and those of control centers and major airports.

An announcement by the executive board of the Chamber of Commerce made Tuesday morning reveals that Mrs. Jan Speer has been employed as the replacement for Mrs. Gerry Switzer.

Mrs. Speer is the wife of Jim Speer, line coach at Yoe High School. She will become the secretary and office manager of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce on May 1 according to Ben Magness, president of the organization.

Search Ends

Drowning Victim Found Tuesday In Little River

The missing body of a 23-year-old Robertson County farmhand was pulled from the Little River about 11 a.m. Tuesday after a three-day search.

Willie Caldrae, farmhand working for Frank and Joe Rastina, ranchers west of Hearne, disappeared Saturday after riding in to the Little River about a mile and one-half from the Little River Brazos River juncture.

Milam County Sheriff Carl Black told The Herald Caldrae had been warned by Frank Rastina not to ride his horse into the swollen waters of Little River.

Sheriff Black led the search for Caldrae's body after he was reported missing.

Black said Caldrae apparently disregarded Rastina's advice and attempted to herd some cattle across the river. His horse probably went under, unseating the rider, Black said. The horse got back out of the water.

The young ranch hand's body was found about a half-mile from the point where he disappeared, Black said. A group of unidentified Negroes found the body.

Sheriff Black was informed of the drowning when Caldrae disappeared on the Milam County side of the river.

Other searchers included Albert Mitcham and a group from Maysfield in the 66-hour hunt, Sheriff Black said.

Caldrae's body was taken to Hartfield Funeral Home, Hearne, where funeral arrangements are pending. He is survived by his wife and two children.

United Fund Pays $4,400 To Charities

The North Milam County United Fund has received $11,073.72 thus far for eight charities with $4,399.68 of the total budget already disbursed to member charities.

Hilliard Thomas, Fund treasurer, said today that the 1956-57 budget-goal was $13,634. In the first United Fund campaign made last fall.

He termed the first drive a successful one, but hoped for a bigger effort for the fund in the second drive next fall. No date has been set for next fall's drive.

The United Fund sends out checks each quarter to member charities, he pointed out.

Pledge cards are filled out by contributing businesses and individuals, he said, so that direct solicitation for United Fund donations is unnecessary.

Rockdale is planning a similar drive this year to create the South Milam County United Fund, Thomas told The Herald.

Charities included in the Fund are: Boy and Girl Scouts, Salvation Army, Red Cross, Heart Fund, Cancer Fund, Library fund and several local charities.

The fund furnishes charities in all of the northern county communities with finances. Thomas pointed out that towns outside of Cameron also gave generously to the United Fund last fall.

Cameron Draws 2.47-Inch Rain As Milam Swims

Milam County and Cameron residents were still surveying the heaviest flow of water in county creeks and the Little River in years this morning following Tuesday's 2.47-inch downpour.

City water department officials said that no damage occurred in Cameron during the rains other than heavy runoff down city streets and water standing in the yards of many local homes.

Two cows were reported struck by lightning east of town during the Tuesday morning showers.

Little River High

Outside of Cameron, bottom land farmers along Little River were watching for a river overflow at prestime. Both Elm and Walkers Creeks had overflowed during the heavy rains.

Soil conservation authorities said rains averaged about 2.5 to 3 inches throughout the county.

And it was the first time in four years, they said, that the thousand-plus stock ponds in Milam were filled and running over the spillways.

Ben Arnold residents reported no crop damage in a 3-inch rain there. Cameron received 2.47 inches.

SCS officials said that considerable soil erosion has occurred during the past few days of rains where no top cover of crops or grass was planted.

But they reported no real damage to county crops.

Back in Cameron, citizens watched Tuesday as the rains poured down most of the day. Downtown streets were practically vacant except for a few scattered cars.

Total Rain 3.94

Total rainfall for Cameron within the past week reached 3.94 inches, according to official city rain gauges. The total sent the yearly rainfall to more than 13 inches, ahead of the yearly average.

Other Central Texas cities experienced flash floods as Waco got four inches, closing streets and highways all-day Tuesday in several parts of the city.

Tornado warnings flew all around Cameron and vicinity, but none was sighted. Warnings ceased 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Fishing Fatalities Prompt Officials To List Accidents

AUSTIN — Recent fatalities among fishermen and other water sports followers has prompted the executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission to remind Texans of the dangers associated with aquatic activities.

He said fishing has been "altogether too good to have our people's fun blighted by unnecessary tragedies."

Secretary Howard Dodgen said, of the first dozen water fatalities reported this spring, most were attributed to carelessness of one sort or another.

One trotline fisherman fell out of his boat while alone and drowned.

One young man drowned when upset. The other three swam to safety. The victim couldn't make it because he had broken an arm and had his limb in a cast.

One fisherman drowned when a sudden storm upset his boat.

One fisherman drowned because he tried to use a motor too heavy for his small boat.

One man died when he fell off his water skis and was struck on the head by a propeller of a following boat.

One man drowned when he stood up and fell out of a boat which lurched when a companion tried to start their outboard motor.

Dodgen pointed out that fishing from a boat "is a very safe sport when ordinary safety rules are observed."

He suggested that boat occupants always wear life jackets.

TP&L's 'Circus' To Display Here For Housewives

Cameron will be visited Tuesday by an eye-catching display of commercial cooking, lighting, heating, and cooling equipment.

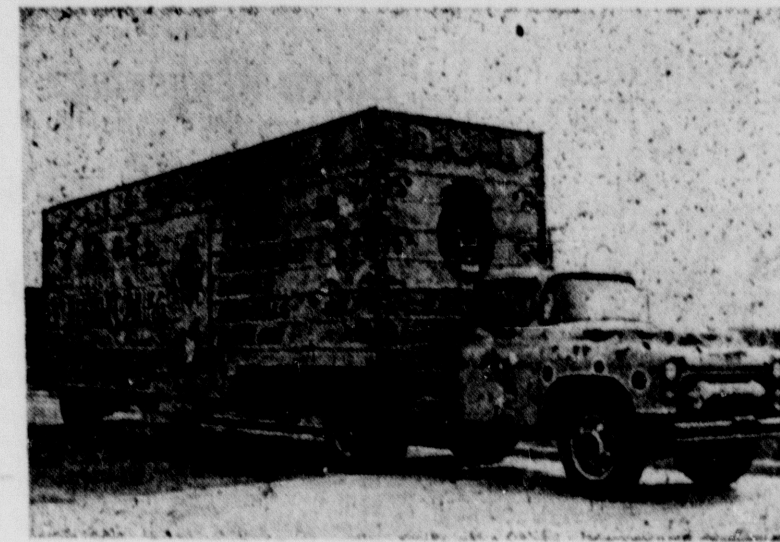

It's Texas Power & Light Company's traveling Commercial Cooking Circus.

Housed in a custom-built 34-foot trailer with a mahogany and stainless steel interior, the exhibit is a compact display of the latest in electric commercial cooking appliances, such as fryers, ovens, griddles, and pressure steam cookers.

The entire ceiling of the trailer glows with light from luminous plastic panels. Power fed into the trailer by cable makes possible the actual use of this equipment in "live" demonstrations.

Guests attending the demonstrations are seated in comfortable chairs and the entire space is comfort air-conditioned by a heat pump which either cools or heats automatically. Controls make possible a change of lighting intensity and color through the "luminous ceiling" type lighting system.

The cooking circus, according to Henry Siebman, district manager for Texas Power & Light Company, is a demonstration of the latest commercial cooking, lighting, and climate control equipment.

Group demonstrations will be conducted daily by A. L. Andrews, cooking specialist, and Burney

Rogers, commercial service advisor, for those interested in speed cooking and modern lighting methods for restaurants, hotels, schools, institutions, and business establishments.

7,800 Buy Licenses For County Vehicles

County Assessor Valter White said this week that 7,800 county vehicles have been licensed.

He expects about 11,000 will be licensed throughout the year, but the additional number will come through new vehicles and those moving into Milano.

A 20 percent penalty is now in effect for those who do not have their 1957 plates, he said. Anyone buying their plates now can avoid the penalty if they sign a statement swearing they have not used their vehicle since the license expired.

Milano County has collected $88,322.06 in license revenue while the state has received $38,363.07 of the total, White said.

Speeding was blamed for 13,830 deaths on U.S. highways in 1956.

A three-day showing at the Milano will bring local viewers a romantic comedy, "Designing Woman" starring Gregory Peck and Lauren Bacall. LEGISLATURE
IN REVIEW

By Herman Yeazak
State Representative
A bill to increase the truck load limit passed the House finally April 9 after it was taken up for consideration on Monday.

The House refused to take up for consideration a House bill to require steering mechanism on motor vehicles to be inspected.

A House bill passed permitting proper authorities to regulate the speed of motor vehicles above or below present legal speed limits on highways and roads.

Motion Re-Refers Bill
A motion was made and carried re-referring a Workman Compensation Bill from the State Affairs Committee to the Committee on Representation before the Legislature. This bill would increase compensation benefit payments from twenty-five to thirty dollars per week for an injured workman.

Proponents of the Constitutional Amendment to abolish ad valorem taxes on motor vehicles and require only a license fee instead have postponed bill action.

The author of the measure delayed the resolution in order to try and work out a compromise that would not endanger the federal aid program to highways.

Segregation Bills Passed
Seven bills dealing with segregation laws were passed during the week. Most of the bills are as a result of the mandate from voters at the last general election.

A Senate bill passed the House designating the fourth Thursday in November as Thanksgiving Day.

The General Appropriation Bill is in a conference committee and its passage is expected within a short time.

From indications this Legislature is expected to adjourn on time or shortly after 120 days as provided by the Constitution. After 120 days the Legislators will work without pay.

Dallas County would be given two new District Courts by the terms of a bill passed in the House.

Bats, Debris, Balcony Posing Courthouse Hazards, Judge Says

(The Herald continues a series concerning the physical condition of Milam County's Courthouse with information and pictures supplied by County Judge Charles Smith.—Ed.)

Bats, debris and an antiquated district courtroom balcony are a few of the hazards found on the third floor of the Milam County Courthouse, according to Judge Charles Smith.

An inadequate jury room, used both for deliberation and sleeping quarters, is accessible to birds, bats and insects which converge on nests in the room, Judge Smith told The Herald.

These are but a few of the problems the jury room poses to any dozen-man group required to use the county's facilities. Because of limited space, jurors are required to sleep on beds that are stashed side by side in the under-sized room, he points out. And the pillows, tables and chairs in the room are worthy only of the trash fire, Judge Smith says, quoting from a finding of a grand jury considering the problem.

On the same floor three offices have become storage rooms for all manner of records, old clothes and shoes no body in the county wants, he says.

Offices Or Junkrooms?

"The offices are used for storage of discarded furniture and miscellaneous junk as well as obsolete records. The wooden flooring of this area when combined with the litter of discarded papers and debris, constitutes a definite fire hazard," Judge Smith emphasizes.

He points out that the balcony in the district courtroom has been condemned by competent engineers who advise removal before it collapses.

The jury room falls under the judge's heaviest criticism. He quotes a grand jury report on the condition of the place. In short, they advised:

1. Rearrange the beds to allow space in between.
2. Remove and burn existing chairs, tables and other furniture in the room to make room for the beds. Then replace with new furniture.
3. Clean the small room in the northeast section of the jury room, remodel and create an interrogation room separate from the sleeping and toilet facilities.
4. Relocate the heating facilities.
5. Disinfect the pillow feathers and recover with new ticking.

Judge Smith says that some temporary measures have been taken to clean up the area. He terms them temporary because new legislation requires separate quarters for male and female jurors which are not now available.

Jury Condemns Place

The bats, birds and accompanying insects seem to have brought one petit jury to the conclusion that the jury room was uninhabitable. An excerpt from a petit jury report quoted by the judge says:

"Conditions of the jury room where we and other jurors are required to stay while serving on a jury are deplorable. Humans should not be required to remain in these quarters. We found mites, bats and a general uncleanness of these quarters."

And to top off the third-floor clutter, Judge Smith says, "neither the public nor courthouse employees entitled to office space are willing to use the third floor because of the lengthy stairs. So it has become a catch-all for junk and discarded items not belonging in the courthouse in the first place."

Week-ends are the most dangerous time to be on U.S. highways. In 1956, more than 56 per cent of all fatalities occurred on Friday, Saturdays and Sundays.

Calls have been received for the induction of three men on May 16 and 14 for pre-induction physical examination on the same day. Orders will be issued later this month.

The Army is now offering a new reserve enlistment program under which young men between the ages of 18½ and 26 may enlist in the reserves for six months active duty for training. These men are not eligible for any deferred classification.

However, if a registrant is ordered to report for induction and

Big Peach Crop Due, Tomatoes Off: Moore

Current prospects for peaches in Milam county are good according to County Agent J. D. Moore. This opinion is in line with better than average prospects for the Southern States. General prospects are the best since 1953.

This year's reported average condition of 78 percent of the nine Southern States compares with 53 percent for April 1 last year, 2 percent for April 1, 1955 and the 10-year average of 62 percent.

Authorities are concerned about the early leaf development on peach trees. The leaf development has been too slow to aid in the proper set of young fruit on peach trees. This condition is due to poor growth of fruit trees last summer and fall.

Production of tomatoes in the three early spring states of Florida, Texas and California is estimated to be a decline of 29 percent from 1956 and 21 percent from the seven-year average Moore continued.

While smaller crops than last year are in prospect in all three states, the indicated reduction in Florida accounts for over three-fourths of the decline in total production in these states.

In the Lower Valley of Texas, acreage was restricted to areas with water from private wells until the mid-February rains. Following these rains, some transplanting took place, and a small acreage was seeded in areas depending on canal irrigation.

Additional rainfall during March was beneficial to all plantings. The crop progressed well until the weekend of March 23-24 when high winds damaged plants.

While no acreage loss is expected, the effect of those winds combined with cool weather at the end of March, checked develop-

BRA Planning Farm Project Below Belton

A 5,000-acre area of irrigated farms is on the planning boards of the Brazos River Authority.

The BRA's staff will work out formula with Leon-Little River farmers in the wide tract below Belton Dam. Plans call for irrigation of the farms this summer.

A Temple farmer, Hal Hartwick, headed a group of irrigators who appeared before the board last week.

The group sought water for their farms which were already set for irrigation.

BRA gave instructions to work out a plan with the group to sell them up to 5,000-acre feet of water out of Belton Reservoir at the same or lower price being paid by the Corps of Engineers for storage space in the dam.

The price is $2.10 an acre foot, but the Engineer contract is up July 1 and subject to change.

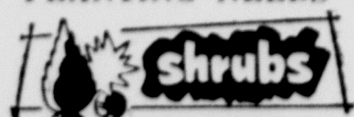

Spokesmen said the farmers would get the benefit of a lower price if it is lowered.

BRA staff members will double its efforts to get a firm contract with Engineers to enable distribution of Belton water by July 1.

USDA Completes 1st Study Of Elm Creek Watershed

The preliminary survey of the Elm Creek Watershed was completed last week by Department of Agriculture specialists.

They include W. T. Buckline,

USDA engineer; Mr. Clark, Waco agronomist and Mr. DeLany, US DA, Dept. of Wildlife; Carl Young, Temple, work unit conservationist; and K. D. Buster, chairman.

The survey indicated more than 30 structures were located within the watershed. It was conducted to determine the feasibility of the project.

Final approval of the application will be May 4 at a meeting in Ft. Worth.

After approval, say watershed officials, and passage of legislation now before the Texas legislature, the district will be ready for planning.

The planning crew needed to work out the eight months of work ahead will need about $50,000 for operating costs, officials say. The federal government will pay the cost, they point out.

The Elm Creek district will pay for the easements, maintenance and contracting.

Only one planning crew is available for the state, officials say, but Elm Creek's application is receiving primary consideration for an imminent go-ahead signal.

They feel that the creation of an official watershed district will enhance their chances of a top priority rating in the planning race with other new districts.

Officials ask that interested persons write their state senator or legislator urging their help in getting the enabling bill passed.

SAVING

YOUR SOIL

Little River - San Gabriel Soil conservation district pastures throughout the area as a whole have responded to favorable soil moisture conditions with a luxuriant growth of early spring grasses, clovers and weeds, according to Soil Conservation Service personnel.

This is true of those pastures that had not been previously completely "stomped-out" and those that have been stocked with the proper numbers of livestock during this current late winter and early spring growing season.

Conservationists urge action in increasing numbers of livestock at this time, however, and recommend provision of adequate acreages of supplemental summer grazing crops on cropland to enable complete rest of pastures through the summer.

Grasses Suffer

Summer grasses, such as Bermuda Grass, Buffalo Grass and King Ranch Bluestem, have suffered severe set-backs in all pastures. They will need all possible protection from grazing during the coming summer growing season if they are to vigorously re-establish themselves.

Fertilization, weed control and in many instances, fertilization and tillage will pay good dividends if soil moisture conditions permit.

These summer grasses, they say, have suffered a 50 to 90 percent loss of base stand. The remaining live plants are in a weakened condition. Initial vigor of these grasses will be notably low, due to loss of root system, competition from early spring-growing plants, followed by summer-growing weeds and the rather cool growing season to date.

Add 30-30-0

With additional rainfall to provide adequate soil moisture, fertilization with 30-30-0 per acre should prove highly desirable on many pasture sites.

Locally, mid-April to the first of June is considered a good time for fertilizer application to summer-growing perennial pasture grasses. Fertilization should not be attempted when the soil profile is below normal in moisture content without the realization that only poor utilization of the fertilizer applied may be made.

County Farmers Use FHA Loans To Good Advantage, Repay Well

Farm families in Milam and Burleson Counties using credit obtained through the Farmers Home Administration are making efficient use of the funds and a good repayment record, according to a report by the agency's county supervisor, Roy M. Wright.

Many farmers are using the loan funds to obtain higher grade livestock (including dairy animals), to improve their pastures, to buy proper types and amounts of fertilizer and seed, purchase needed farm equipment, and to finance similar steps toward better farming.

Farmers Repay $113,000

So far this fiscal year since June 30, 1956, farmers in Milam and Burleson Counties have repaid a total of $113,849.94 on all types of loans.

FHA provides loans to farm better, buy or improve farms, build or repair farm buildings, improve soil and water conservation practices, meet emergency needs, or take care of certain refinancing problems, Wright said.

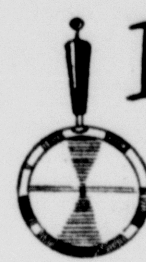

FHA credit is supplied on the basis of supplementing credit from other sources, he explained. The loans are available only when other lenders are not in position to supply the credit the farmers need to get the greatest possible returns from their land and family labor resources.

Credit Gains In 4 Years

The average time taken by farmers in the counties to repay their loans for farm operating where they can obtain the credit purposes and to reach the point from conventional lenders is approximately four years, Wright said.

YHS Seniors To Present Play, 'Love Troubles Tommy' Tuesday

Yoe High School's senior class will present a three-act comedy, "Love Troubles Tommy," 8 p.m. Tuesday at Yoe Auditorium.

A 12-member cast will develop a hilarious plot revolving around the school problems of one Tommy Stevens, portrayed by Franklin Moore.

It was written by Jean Provenance and is directed by Mrs. C. L. Canady, YHS speech and drama teacher.

"Love Troubles Tommy" asks the age-old pre-prom question: "How can a fellow escort the school siren to the senior prom when his folks won't replace Dad's old moth-eaten tuxedo?"

The answer to the riddle puts hero Tommy into hot water up to his tonsils.

The play races through the last 10 days of school before senior graduation at Central High.

Featured in the cast are: Nita Archer as Tommy's mother, George McCallen as his pal, George; Marye Horstmann as his grandmother; Johnny Solomon as Tommy's father, Carol Sanders as his sister, Jeff Burkes as Einstein, the smartest boy in school; Barbara Young as the siren of Central High; Evelyn Vybiral as Janice, Betty's friend; Emory Camp as Roger Wilson, a Gamma Delta; Rita Moraw as Clara, a girl on the prom committee and Dwight Hughes as Phil, Betty's boy friend.

Senior class members will be selling tickets prior to the Tuesday performance.

Cameron Druggist Wins Honors For Sales, Community Service

Earl Curtis, owner of New Cameron Drug Store, Cameron, has received two recent awards from the Rexall Drug Co. for outstanding sales and community service.

He was notified by wire early this week of the latest award for "high standards of community service" by John Dowles, president of the Rexall Division, Rexall Drug Co.

Curtis, member of the city school board and dog fancier, was presented with a plaque commemorating the award.

It was added to an earlier award, a Mortar and Pestle trophy, presented to him by Rexall earlier this year. The trophy cited New Cameron Drug for outstanding sales and service within the organization.

The award is an authentic replica of a 16th century mortar and pestle cast at Deventer, The Netherlands, in 1590. T. W. Hughes made the presentation.

Curtis' trophy and community service plaque are on display at his prescription counter. The mortar and pestle is mounted on a black walnut pedestal.

Curtis says the historic mortar and pestle, still an important implement in the druggist's profession, is an ancient symbol of pharmacy. Its use for pulverizing medicinal herbs is recorded in the histories of ancient Egyptians, Hebrews of Biblical times and the Roman era.

History of the mortar and pestle of which Curtis' is a copy was developed after a comprehensive study of the original articles by a curator of the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C.

The group last summer played in a five-team county league under the name of Cameron "Exes" winning a third-place spot in the league. Sharp led the league and was followed by Rockdale and Cameron in that order.

Florida told The Herald the 10-man squad will work out Sunday at the Fiesta Grounds, Cameron.

He said new players are invited to work out with the squad this Sunday afternoon. The group last year played games each Sunday. Gerrin and Rudie Grossman, are working out on the mound. Florida and Forrest Sapp last summer handled pitching for the "Exes."

Cameron Expects 70 For Golf Tourney

The Central Texas Pro-Am golf tournament will draw about 70 players next Monday at the Cameron Country Club course, according to Jerry Rice, club manager.

Play will begin at 11:30 a.m., he said, and should be completed by 4 p.m. The tournament is played each week on a central Texas course.

A quintet of Cameron golfers appeared on Temple's KCEN-TV Tuesday evening to boost the tournament on the local course.

Appearing on the Dub King show were Dr. C. G. Swift, Lester, Mrs. T. L. Denson and Ted Matula, Mrs. Berniece Rice. They discussed the tourney with King on the nightly sports show.

High School and 10:15 a.m. at Ben Milam. The group will be a feature attraction of the store opening May 3.

The group had one of the first commercial programs on any Fort Worth radio station in 1931. When time for their broadcast came around, they left their machines, shook the flour dust off, picked up their fiddles and guitars and swung into the program in the flour mill.

A partial basis for the popularity of the Light Crust Doughboys is their personal appearances. They have made appearances at rodeos, fairs, store openings and barbecues, and in 1933 appeared at the World's Fair in Chicago.

Each year they appear as the top western and folk music group at the Texas State Fair.

In 1936, Texas Centennial year, Governor Allred designated the Light Crust Doughboys as ambassadors of good will and they set out in their sound truck to make a tour across Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and into California.

In Hollywood they made two pictures with Gene Autry which inaugurated the series of "western-musicals."

'PITCHER WINDOW' — Part of Mrs. C. N. Dodson's 565-pitcher collection is currently on display in Culpepper's Jewelry Store in downtown Cameron.

Her array of water containers poses an interesting tour of the world's contributions to pitcher making both as a practical and collector's art.

Cameronite Presents Fabulous Array

Mrs. Dodson Shows Pitchers

There are different kinds of pitchers, mostly baseball and container types. The letter in all its variations is being shown in Culpepper's Jewelry Store by Mrs. C. N. Dodson.

With a sign—"Need a pitcher?"—inviting one's attention, Mrs. Dodson displays in the store's window a part of her fabulous collection from all parts of the U. S. and the world.

It is the first display of several collections due to be shown, Mrs. Dodson says. The showings are part of her plans to form a hobby club here. Mrs. R. L. Batte, Sr., and Mrs. Betty Stafford will soon show their collections of dolls and cup and saucers respectively.

"World Loves A Pitcher" "I am told the world loves a pitcher," Mrs. Dodson says.

"Some for what it contains, others for its worth as an object of art," "Pitchers are a mark of gracious living," she continues, "combining beauty and usefulness. They show arts and crafts of countries where they were made."

Mrs. Dodson says that pitchers were mentioned in a number of Biblical incidents, including Christ's discussion of the Passover. He said: "There shall be a man meet you bearing a pitcher of water."

Great painters such as Juan de Juanes painted pitchers as part of his subjects in "The Last Supper," Mrs. Dodson points out. Other painters including Francis Franc and Bartolome Murillo put pitchers in their paintings.

As painters interpret them differently, countries sculpt pitchers in the pattern of their lives and the geographical influence of their environments, she emphasizes.

No Limit On Types Mrs. Dodson does not limit her collection to any type or size of pitcher. Culpepper's window vividly displays various sizes, right and left handed and various materials in the Dodson pitcher collection.

She prizes her 22-carat gold pitcher made by Dr. Watson, another made from material of the Battleship Oregon and still another made in wood from Evangelical times.

Other varieties include a pitcher inside a bottle, another her nephew sent from blitzed London and many others in the shape of dogs, cats, turtles, bears and others of the animal kingdom.

"Christmas, Mother's Day and my birthday used to be 'pitcher days' when my children were growing up," Mrs. Dodson recalls.

"And my family and friends now wonder where I will put another one," she says. "But somehow, a new one finds a corner."

Exchanges Information

Mrs. Dodson belongs to a Pitcher Round Robin. Six other collectors and she correspond with one another on new pitcher developments. Each lives in a different state. The next best thing to buying a new pitcher is to read about one, she points out.

Each of the Dodson pitchers is catalogued with its history. She keeps a scrapbook on old pitchers and glass.

One of Mrs. Dodson's most interesting pitchers d'art is one used at a supper given in honor of President William Taft in Georgia. It is shaped like an opossum with a "supper to the President" inscribed in gold.

"But as the saying goes," she opines, "little pitchers have big ears. Surely 565 pitchers in my collection tell a story interesting to all who share interest in pitcher collecting."

letter, then read by the superintendent, stated that he was tendering his resignation for the good of the school subject to action of the board.

After the letter was read, Shapiro motioned that the board vote on the issue. Curtis seconded the motion, saying that he believed acceptance of the resignation would ease undue tension at O. J. Thomas where he said "much controversy" centered around the Negro principal.

President H. B. Pressley called for the vote with Mrs. Dana Monroe, F. W. Vogelsang, Don Humble and Howard voting against acceptance of the resignation and Shapiro and Curtis voting for acceptance.

Curtis got up, followed by Shapiro, and left the meeting.

In explaining his stand on the issue, Howard said that the Negro principal had encountered difficulty in trying to carry out the board's thinking. He said he thought the man was doing a competent job.

He also pointed out he felt agitation by individuals and a "radical element" had caused circulation of a petition asking for Harnsberry's resignation.

Humble Cites Petition

Humble said he could not give the petition with some 130 names on it much credence because of the questionable nature of some of its signatures. At least 15 signatures, he said, appeared to be signed by the same hand and three others were different names by marriage signed by the same person.

Vogelsang commented on the petition of which, he said, the manner of its circulation was resented by most of the reputable Negroes he talked to personally. And most of them approved Harnsberry's work as principal, Vogelsang said.

All the board members before the vote on Harnsberry's resignation, had noted the number of phone calls from school patrons throughout Cameron.

Following the Harnsberry question, the board voted to require city school principals to ignore individual instructions from board members without the written permission of the board president, Pressley. Humble's motion was approved by the four remaining board members.

Tempers flared early in the meeting when Dr. Shapiro asked the board to consider lowering the salary of Miss Nina Wilkerson, school tax assessor-collector. She was re-elected at the same salary of $300 and $25 monthly office expenses by the board with Shapiro voting No.

Miss Wilkerson explained her duties to the board prior to her rehiring for another year.

Shapiro charged that her duties were not a full-time job. Miss Wilkerson pointed out that 94 percent of last year's taxes had been collected.

Attendance Drops

Supt. Loughmiller pointed out that the average attendance had dropped 73 in the white schools with measles taking a heavy attendance toll in Ben Milam. The school, he said, is at present one-hundredth of a pupil short, but hoped that final attendance figures would allow the statistical edge for the extra teacher.

The board accepted the resignation of Bob White, industrial arts teacher and that of Miss Edwards, home economics teacher who is going to Sharp.

They then voted to rehire all white teachers but one.

In other action the board:

—Approved a total school tax of $1 maintenance and 50 cents for bond retirement.

—Approved motion to require teachers to hold health certificates including an X-ray.

—Okayed purchase of a water heater.

—Approved the purchase of five typewriters per year at a $32 saving. One electric typewriter is included in the yearly replacement move.

U.S. highway deaths occurred on

More than 22 per cent of 1956 Saturdays.

Skeezix Reopen Here This Week

Skeezix is again open and operating just outside the city limits of Cameron on the Old Temple Highway. Gib Terry, the "old master" when it comes to turning out the best in barbecue, is turning out excellent meats daily.

Melvin Ford, owner and operator of the restaurant, has rebuilt on the same site of the former Skeezix establishment which burned about a year ago.

The building itself is a frame structure designed along simple but neat lines. Furniture and fixtures are of a similar nature with all in its quiet and removed location reminding Cameron visitors and guests of an exclusive sportsman's lodge.

Long in the cattle business, including ranching as well as the buying and selling of cattle, the owner is using his experience for the acquisition of choice beef for better cuts of meat for steaks and barbecue.

He says rather than building an exclusive type building he intends placing all emphasis on the meats served.
